OVERVIEW

Article 14 – Information Privacy and Security Provisions ("Article 14") is the Agency-approved set of documents that encompass federal and State requirements related to Privacy and Security of Protected Information. It includes four sections, some or all of which may be applicable to a contract. The new Article 14 essentially expands privacy and security requirements established under the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) to include State requirements. There are 4 sections, which are:

- Section 1: Business Associate Agreement
- Section 2: Privacy and Security of Personal Information and Personally Identifiable Information
- Section 3: Data Security Requirements
- Section 4: Miscellaneous

DIFFERENT TYPES OF INFORMATION

The Decision Tree on the other side of the page will help you to determine whether None or All of Article 14 applies or whether only part of Article 14 applies. To understand the Decision Tree, it is important that you can distinguish between different types of data.

Protected Information is a broad term that covers information created or received by the Agency that can be reasonably used to identify an individual. Examples may include, but are not limited to:

- Demographic information, such as name, social security number, or zip code;
- Public Assistance or dependency information, such as case number or status;
- Medical information, such as medication or diagnosis; or
- Financial records, such as health plan information or credit reports

Protected Information includes various types of data, such as:

- Protected Health Information, defined as individually identifiable health information, including demographic information, that relates to an individual's physical or mental health, or the provision of, or payment for, health care (HIPAA section 160.103).
- Personal Information (California Civil Code section 1798.3)
- Personally Identifiable Information (National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) publication 800-122).

EACH SECTION DEFINED

Section 1: Business Associate Agreement includes requirements for Protected Health Information. However, even if your contract does not appear to pertain to HIPAA, the contract may still need this section due to State requirements. If any part of Article 14 applies, you need to include this section.

Section 2: Privacy and Security of Personal Information and Personally Identifiable Information includes state requirements for certain types of Personal Information and Personally Identifiable Information. Section 2 generally applies if your contract pertains to a State Agreement.

Section 3: Data Security Requirements refer to security of all Protected Information, whether Protected Health Information, Personally Identifiable Information, or Personal Information. It specifies several types of security controls. If any part of Article 14 applies, you need to include this section.

Section 4: Miscellaneous details additional requirements for the contractor. If any part of Article 14 applies, you need to include this section.
